

The Bamberg Herald

ESTABLISHED APRIL, 1891.

Published every Thursday in The Herald building, on Main street, in the live and growing City of Bamberg, being issued from a printing office which is equipped with Mergenthaler Linotype machine, Babcock cylinder press, folder, two jobbers a fine Miehle cylinder press, all run by electric power with other material and machinery in keeping, the whole equipment representing an investment of $10,000 and upwards.

Subscriptions—By the year $1.50; six months, 75 cents; three months, 50 cents. All subscriptions payable strictly in advance.

Advertisements—$1.00 per inch for first insertion, subsequent insertions 50 cents per inch. Legal advertisements at the rates allowed by law. Local reading notices 5 cents a line each insertion. Wants and other advertisements under special head, 1 cent a word each insertion. Liberal contracts made for three, six and twelve months. Write for rates. Obituaries, tributes of respect, resolutions, cards of thanks, and all notices of a personal or political character are charged for as regular advertising. Contracts for advertising not subject to cancellation after first insertion.

Communications—We are always glad to publish news letters or those pertaining to matters of public interest. We require the name and address of the writer in every case. No article which is defamatory or offensively personal can find place in our columns at any price, and we are not responsible for the opinions expressed in any communication.

Thursday, March 23, 1916.

The State, in a recent issue, calls attention to the fact that many of the so-called high class periodicals, magazines and newspapers, have discontinued advertising whiskey and patent medicines, but they carry big advertisements, cleverly worded and attractive, of numerous brands of pistols. It is true. One can hardly open a magazine without having displayed before his eyes big advertisements of weapons which are used for little else in this world than to kill with—and to kill your fellow man.

Orangeburg has recently secured a broom and mattress factory, a veneering plant, and a packing house has been organized with a capital of $50,000. We understand that all of these enterprises were secured through the agency of the chamber of commerce of that city. In other words had there not been an organization, the purpose of which is to try to secure new enterprises—for one thing—Orangeburg would not have had added to her industries three magnificent plants. It is nobody's business to look after such matters in Bamberg, and we are not securing so very many new enterprises.

It is the endeavor of The Herald management to give courteous attention to every communication received, but if our readers would observe one rule that has been in force in this office for many years, we would be saved the trouble of writing a good many letters. Scarcely a week passes that we do not receive one or more requests to give publication to notices of entertainments of various character, at which either an admission is charged or articles are offered for sale for the purpose of raising money. The Herald cannot publish such notices as news. We consider matter as advertising where it gives publicity to any kind of a meeting the primary purpose of which is to make money—no matter for what purpose the money is to be used. We derive our principal revenue from selling our advertising space, and must, therefore, charge regular advertising rates for matter that is advertising—and we consider such matter as above noted advertising. If our friends would bear this in mind in writing us, it would save both them and The Herald considerable useless correspondence.

SCREEN TRICKS.

Why Do Moving Pictures Seem So Life-Like?

It takes a certain amount of time to affect the eye, says March Popular Science Monthly. You do not see things instantaneously. If you move a lighted cigar in a dark room very rapidly you see what is apparently a continuous curve of light.

The motion pictures reproduce movements faithfully for the same reason. Before the eye has a chance to see a picture in its entirety a new picture is flashed on the screen. The pictures appear and vanish at the rate of sixteen a second, in other words, so rapidly that the effect of continuous motion is produced.

Advantage is taken of this to produce very curious and unnatural effects: for example, an old building tearing itself down, a hole digging itself in the ground, a skyscraper growing up from a foundation without the aid of human hands. The camera operator has simply taken a picture of the demolition of the old building and the construction of the skyscraper at the rate of perhaps one an hour, but projects them all in twenty minutes.

and a visible means of practical support is a good, substantial bank account. Once you have a good balance at your banker's, you do not care how things go, because you feel practically independent. And the only way to get a bank account is to save, and save, and acquire riches by patient thrift. We can help you do this by taking care of your savings and paying you a good interest thereon. Do not delay, but start saving at once.
